TOURISTS FLOCKING HOME. AND MANY FOREIGN VISITORS COMING

OVER WITH THEM.

gimon Cameron, Larry Jerome, the Thaker Sahib of Morvi, and the Amateur Athletes Among the 631 Pasengers on the Servin, The big transatlantic steamships which were expected to arrive on Sunday, but didn't. came up to their docks yesterday, safe and sound and loaded with all sorts of passengors, most of them Americans returning from a summer's outing abroad. The big gale which swept in the Atlantic coast last week reached the marder Servia and the French Steamship La Normandie when only two days out. It had spent its force considerably, but gave them a good shaking up nevertheless.

The Servia arrived at her dock at 1 o'clock. She had on board 532 first cabin passengers and 99 intermediate, a total of 631, which exeeds the list landed here from the Umbria on Aug. 28 by 17 passengers. About the first perons to trip down the gangplank was a lot of laughing young Brooklyn school teachers, who ad been abroad for an instructive vacation. and had got home just in time to open their desks and begin work again. Right after them stepped, somewhat feebly, a very tall but very straight old man, with sharp blue eyes and a ace of marked force and intelligence. Hardly any one of the crowd on the pier recognized im but when he sat down on a plece of his baggage, marked "S. C., Pa.," there were a few persons who knew the old Republican Warrick of Pennsylvania, Gen. Simon Cameron. haleand quite hearty at the age of 58.

"Oh. yes. I had a very pleasant trip," said the statesman to a Sun reporter. "and I have been very well most of the time. I spent all my time in Scotland and England, and visited eral country places—something I have never before when on the other side. I have read and studied and dined a great deal. I attended Buffalo Bill's rib roast, where I met Chauncy Depew. Mr. Cody has been very sucseaful. No. I can say nothing about politica. Idid not see Mr. Blaine. Mr. Depew I saw twice on public occasions."

Gen. Cameron did not remain in the city longer than to get his effects transferred to the Pennsylvania Railroad depot. He left at once for his home, and he said that he would be able to sleep at home last night.

Gen. Cameron's companion during a greater part of the trip was Mr. Larry Jeronie. They went to the Bermudas together a short time ago also. Mr. Jeronie was found yesterday alternoon entertaining his friends at the Union Club with stories of his exploits with the English. tonger than to get his effects transferred to the

I have and a good time and a rough passage over, and am tired," he said. We had lots of school marms, an Indian prince, several clergymen, some athletes, and a noted doctor on board."

The Indian Prince referred to is his Highness Thakor sahib of Morvi. He is one of the tributpry rulers in India who attended the Queen's jubilee, and also one of those who did not get signised in the ceremonies. He is a young man of great importance in his own country, with the power of life and death over about $20,000 souls. He is therefore a little bigger man in that respect than his Highness Thakor Sahib of Limbdi, who arrived here about two weeks ago, and who is now enjoying life at Newport with the Duke of Mariborough.

The Thakor Sahib of Morvi is accompanied by an English attendant, Mr. W. H. White, and by Dr. Banajee. He dresses as gorgeously as the former Sahib, but he is still a modest man, and sizns his name to the register of the Brunswick Sir Waghee, which is his title under which he is travelling incognito. He has the right also to put K. C. I. E. after his name, meaning Knight Commander of the Indian Empire, but he forbears. He has engaged six rooms at the Brunswick, and will stay in this city about a week. After that he intends to join the other Sahib, with whom he is on friendly terms, and they will probably make a trip across the continent together, going to San Francisco by the Northern Pacille and back by the Southern route.

The Sahib is greatly interested in scientific subjects. He is well educated, and speaks English fluently. He intends to look thoroughly into American industries, and especially into arrive on the Servia with Mr. W. He holds the world's records for 150, 220, 250, and 300 yards. He is a Norlolk farmer, and has 300 acres of land under cultivation.

As soon as Mr. Wood and Mr. Page could be got off the steamship they were welcomed by a crowd of Manhaitan Athletic Club men and taken down to Staten Island to witness the games there. They remained there during the evening. Mr. Page said he was well pleased with the treatment he had generally received abroad. Wood said he hoped to be able to du lis best here, and would like to be able to run Lon Meyers if he should get back from Australia in time.

Thomas Hay, the champion pole vaulter, with a record of 11 feet 7 inches, and C.S. V. Clark, who holds the world's records for two and three mile walks, are on the Wisconsin, which is expected here to-day or to-morrow. They will all be guests of the Manhattan Athletic Club at their house, 524 Fifth avenue.

Mr. Page and the English athletes will make heir first appearance at the fall games of the Manhattan Athletic Club, on the club grounds, on next Saturday. Wood will enter for the 100.

200, and 400 yard runs, Ray in the pole vaulting, Clark in the one and three mile walks, and Page will of course scoop things in the high impromests.

Among the other passengers on the Servia was br. W. M. Ord, a celebrated English physician, who is bound for the Convention at Washington; the Rev. Dr. John Hall, Col. J. Duffy, W. H. Gaylord, Judge J. M. Henderson, United States Senator J. C. Spooner of Wisconsin, G. C. Wood, Major Bainbridge, and Dr. Bamuel Benton.

The French steamship La Normandle arrived at her dock at 12 o'cleck. She brought 167 first, 64 second, and 430 third class passengers. Among them were Dr. Valentine Mott, Baron de Grancey, Dr. Draper, Willis S. Paine, and C. H. Mosher.

The young woman said that she was Miss Granger, and that at 9 o'clock she had left a studio, of which she had charge at 23 Union square, to go home. She intended to walk to the elayated railroad station at Eighteenth street and Sixth avenue. She had in her hand her necketbook, in which there was a good deal of money. In Eighteenth street an ugly young negro jumped in front of her and attempted to esatch the pocketbook. She drew back, but he sized her hands and tried to take it. She stringgled to retain the pocketbook and tried to release herself. He held her hadns the to release herself. He held her hadns the lightly and wrenched the pocketbook from her, and ran away in the direction of Fifth avenue. Miss Granger said she was too frightened to Fifth avenue, her hands were bruised. She had to go back to her office and get money to take her home.

THE POTOMACS WIN THE CUP. Celebration of the States Island Athlets Club's Tenth Birthday.

The Staten Island Athletic Club celebrated yesterday its decennial birthday by sports on land and water which consumed the day, while at night the grounds were lighted by fireworks First was a lacrosse game between the New York and Niagara Lacrosse Clubs. The New Yorkers won by a score of 4 to zero. The New York members who made the goals were D. Brown, R. W. Drysdale, each 1, and 8, White, 2

Then came a lawn tennis tournament, and at the same time field sports in an adjoining enclosure. Twenty-four singles played, and at the final there remained A. Duryee of Williams College and O. S. Campbell of the Westchester Lawn Tennis Club. In the best three out of five Duryee won one and Campbell two sets, and Campbell was declared the win-ner of a silver vase and Duryee of a silver cup. played on last Friday and Saturday. Yester day the contest was narrowed to A. Duryee o Williams College with C. J. Post of the West chester Lawn Tennis Club, against O. B. Campbell and E. P. MacMullen, both of the West chester Club. There were twolve events in the field. The prizes were a gold medal to first and silver medal to second. First was a 100-yards run, handicap, in four first trials and two second trials. W. B. Coster of the New York Athletic Club won in the final of the 100-yards run in 10/s. With C. H. Matthews of the Olympic Athletic Club and H. S. Young, Jr., of the Manhattan Athletic Club at a dead heat for second place. Young won in running off the dead heat in 10/s. In pole valiting A. A. Jordan of the New York Athletic Club was first and G. A. Casey of the Manlewood Athletic Club, second. Both vaulters went to 9 feet 9 inches, but Jordan being handicapped 1 foot 9 inches and Casey 1 foot 5 inches, Jordan got the gold medal. Then came the 880 yards run handicap, with eleven men off at the pistol shot. L. R. Sharp of the Spartan Harriers, 39 yards, won in 68% seconds, with Joseph S. Paxton of the Twelith Rogiment Athletic Club second. There were four bleyclers in the two-mile bleycle handicap race. S. H. Rich of the Staten Island Athletic Club, 100 yards, won in 6 minutes 30/s seconds, and E. W. Gould, Jr., of the same club, 150 yards, was second. Then fourteen men started in a 220 yards run handicap, with three trial heats, W. C. White of the Manhattan Athletic Club second. The fourteen men started is a 220 yards run, handicap, with three trial heats, W. C. White of the Manhattan Athletic Club bon in 22 seconds, with A. W.S. Then couldn't catch them. The Unions crossed the line in 5 minutes 41% seconds. It was no race.

Late in the afternoon the junior singles tried it again, but the Tritons were barred out for fouling. The Unions won in 6 minutes 49 seconds, with the Eurekae second, and the others following in this order: Passaic, Staten Island, and West Philadelphia.

The important event of the day was the eight-oared shell race for a silver challenge cup valued at $1,000, given by the Staten Island Athletic Club. The six eight-oared shells were an hour getting into line. They were the Potomac Boat Club of Washington, the Union Boat Club of New York, the Albany Boat Club of Elizabeth, the Metropolitan Boat Club of Elizabeth, the Metropolitan Boat Club of New York, and the Staten Island Athletic Club. The Metropolitan Boat Club of New York, and the Staten Island Athletic Club. The Metropolitans broke their rudder before starting and had five minutes allowed them by the judges to fix it. Then all was ready, and the signal was given to start. M. F. Monohan, stroke of the Albany Club, broke the swivel of his rowlock at the second stroke and was a passenger for the rest of the race. The Potomacs and the Aleyones had the water to themselves for the last half of the race. The Potomacs and the Aleyone In 5 minutes 17 seconds. The Staten Island and the Albany utes 17 seconds. the Unions 5 minutes 26% seconds. The Staten Island and the Albany Clubs crossed the line almost together.

In the evening the club grounds were lighted by electric lights, and librains by rockets, fountains of dre, flery hombshells, spouting geysers, parachute rockets, and meteors. GEORGE NOT CHEERED AT THE PICNIC.

A Tremendous Crowd Jame Union Park Too Tight Almost for Dancing.

Brommer's Union Park, across Harlem Bridge, was packed until after midnight with the picnic that followed the labor parade. At one time the throng was so great that there was no getting around, and danc-ing was delayed in the dancing pavilion. There was no speechmaking at the picnic, but all the orators, except James P. Archibald, were hand. John McMackin escorted hand. John McMackin escorted Mr. George to the section of the park devoted to the games. Mr. George and Mrs. George had come in at the gate unannounced, and walked up through the crowd, right in among the throng of men and women seated at the tables. He was not cheered.

The games were not contested for in the usual fashion. No time was kept by the time-keeper. In three of the games protests have been filed. R. P. Davis of the Operative Painters' Union finally announced that instead of Mrs. Hackett giving out the prizes up on the platform, as had been proposed, they would be awarded on Sunday at Clarendon Hall. Julius Weistead won the half-mile run, and James Murray the quarter-mile race.

Clarendon Hall. Julius Weistead won the haif-mile run, and James Murray the quarter-mile race.

In the contest in which a member of a union walked blindfolded up to a dial and endeavored to bore a bole as near as he could to the bull'scove. Patrick Powers of the Lather's Union won first prize. J. Clark won the sack race. In the five-mile go-as-rou-nlease. William Smith, who is said to be a professional, won. The man who came in second, James Clark, is also said to be a professional. William Sheehan of the Hod Carriers' Union was third, and he said he was bound to get the prize. The hop, step, and itump was won by J. Sullivan.

Just before midnight pickpockets began to get in their fine work on the dense crowds in the dancing pavilion. One woman caught a man's hand in her pocket. She screamed. Immediately there was a great uproar, and the pickpecket was the worst frightened mortal in nine counties. The woman insisked upon getting back her watch, and the pickpecket demanded to be searched. A half dozen policemen dragged him off to the reception room, a great crowd following. Of course the watch was not found. It had been handed to a confederate. All around the platform watches and pocketbooks were missed after bunches of young fellows formed and bumped into the merrymakers.

A Wonder.

WILD RACING AT THE BAY. A NEW BULE THAT WILL STIR UP THE

Jee Cotton Hends the Twin City Horses-Kingston Lands the Dolphin Stakes-Racciand Downs the Juveniles. The rush to Sheepshead Bay yesterday was greater than that of Saturday. The throng packed the spacious grounds from the saddling paddock to the field beyond the betting quarters. Sixty bookmakers, with their 250 assistants, the mutual and auction pool dealers, and the combination men were overrun with investors. Eighty-eight horses were entered for the six races, very few of which were scratched. This sent dangerously large fields to the post in all but two of the races. The track was very far and dusty. Horses and riders strained every muscle to win, and a remarkable feature of the sport was that in all the mad rushes through the dust no accidents occurred.

Possibly with a view of reducing the fields the appended racing rule was adopted yester-day by the Coney Island Jockey Club, and consurred in by the Brooklyn Jockey Club:

No horse shall be eligible to be entered which shall have started for a race on any race course situated in Kinga, Queena, New York or Richmond county of less than a mile, or when the value of the purse or prize to be respectively disqualified from all privileges of these associations to which he or they would be otherwise entitled—such as making entries, training, and stabling horses on the grounds and riding in races thereon. 3. This rule shall not apply in regard to races at agricultural fairs or of recognized hunt clubs.

The race that aroused the greatest enthusiasm was the renewal of the Twin City Handicap, at a mile and a quarter, for which Dwyer Brothers' horse Joe Cotton, ridden by Mceap, at a mile and a quarter, for which Dwyer Brothers' horse Joe Cotton, ridden by Mc-Laughlin, was selected to carry the bulk of the money tossed up by the talent. Green Morris's horse Favor, with Godfrey up, was also loaded with the fortunes of many good judges of race horses, and Mr. Baidwin's filly Miss Ford, with Armstrong to pilot her, had many followers, Exile was also a popular horse in the race, while Fingeoletta and Florence M. were looked upon as outsiders. Joe was first away, but McLaughlin gallantly held him in, permitting Miss Ford to sweep past the stand at a furiong with a lead of two open lengths. She doubled the breach in the backstretch, and entered the far turn three lengths in the lead, keeping up her fast stride. McLaughlin, who had kept Joe in second place from the time Miss Ford headed him, began to close on the filly on the way to the head of the stretch, at which point he half lapped her. Both were apparently doing all they could at the sixteenth pole, where Joe's neck extended past the filly's. Then McLaughlin put in his fine work to secure the race. Joe's stride quickened, and, moving shead swiftly, he outfooted Miss Ford, winning the race by a length and a half in 2:07%, with 115 pounds up, 12 more than the mare. Favor came in second. Dry Monopole has the best record for the distance, 2:07, carrying 106 pounds.

The race for the Dolphin Stakes, at a mile

Favor came in second. Dry Monopole has the best record for the distance, 2:07, carrying 106 pounds.

The race for the Dolphin Stakes, at a mile and a furlong, was a heavy betting event, in which Kingston, ridden by McLaughlin, was the favorite at even money, Capt. Sam Brown's colt Stuyvesant, with the Snapper in the saddle, coming next in the betting, at 4 to 1 against him. Belviders and Roi d'Or made the running from the start to the head of the homestretch, McLaughlin moving Kingston into second place, close to the leader, along the stretch up to the last hundred yards, when he cut Kingston loose, winning the race neatly, half a length in front of Belvidere.

Billet's son Raceland, a juvenile from the West that has won five races out of six this season, beating the Emperor of Norfok, was backed until the odds made nim a hot favorite in the sweepstakes for three-vear-olds at three-quarters of a mile. Mr. Caldwell sent the big field of sixteen away in a cluster. Fishburn having the Western favorite about the centre of the group, which was headed by Subaltern. Leo H, got his shoulder clear along the backstretch, leading into the long sweep for the homestretch, while Raceland was fast overhauling him. Huceland reached Leo H, on the stretch, and the pair fought tooth and nail to the finish, Raceland winning by half a length in 1:14%.

Thirteen started in the opening dash of three-

Thirteen started in the opening dash of threequarters of a mile. Garrison, on his horse Cyclops, the favorite, got away in the front rank, Mamle Hunt moving out and setting the pace to the bend for the homestretch, where Florence E, soon showed a neck in front and Cyclops was trying to work out of the ruck, with danger of being shut in. The Snapper sent his horse slong sately, while Mamie Hunt took the lead again in the straight, Cyclops getting alongside near the finish and beating her in by a neck in the fast time of 1:13.

Wild betting took place on the selling race, making Windsall the tavorite, Malaria, Lelex, and Frankie B, holding second choice at 6 to 1 against each. The race was close and doubtful to the last stride. Editor and Drake led the compact bunch from the start to the homestretch, Redstone taking second place at the head of the stretch, half a do en making a close run home, Windsall, Lelex, and Redstone shooting out like rockejs under the shadow of the judges stand, Lelex winning by a nose in front of Windsall. There was no bid for the winner.

The last race was a dash of three-quarters of a mile over the turf. Fifteen started in a straggling race over a track scarcely wide enough for ten. Choctaw, the favorite, Modesty, and Sania Rita dashed away at the head of the field. Hamilton moved Santa Rita to the front in the run slong the backstretch, and in 1:14%. Thirteen started in the opening dash of threeesty, and Santa Rita dashed away at the head of the field. Hamilton moved Santa Rita to the front in the run along the backstretch, and the filly was never headed to the finish, Hamilton sending her in winner by two lengths, Pat Divver second, and Maggie Mitchell third. The rival jockeys had three mounts each. McLaughlin winning two to Garrison's one. The scores now stand: Garrison, 71; McLaughlin, 66.

MRS. FORD'S LOST CHILDREN. One of her Pellow Passengers on the Train

Chief of Police Murphy of Jersey City, who is endeavoring to unravel the mystery surrounding the case of Mrs. Mary Ford, the widow who reported the loss of three children whom she said she left temporarily in a Jersey City restaurant on her arrival from California. btained a clue yesterday which may ald him He had pretty nearly concluded that the woman did not have any children with her on her journey from California, but was laboring under an hallucination. The fact that she did have the children seemed to be settled yesterday afternoon. John Semering, a butcher living at 771 Ninth avenue in this city, called at Police Headquarters in this city. He had read of the case in THE SUN. and recollected that he had seen and talked with the woman and her children on the train from Chicago, where he boarded it for this city. He thought, however, that Mrs. Ford and from Chicago, where he boarded it for this city. He thought, however, that Mrs. Ford and her children left the train at Newark, but the woman, who was in Police Headquarters while Bemering was there, said she was positive that she left the train in Jorsey City.

With Mrs. Ford at Police Headquarters was her friend, Mrs. Kenney of this city, with whom she is staying. They went to Jersey City early in the day, for the purpose, if possible, of identifying the colored porter of the train on which she rode. The porter was Henry Poindexter of 255 Washington street, Jersey City. Poindexter had gone out on his train, but was recalled at Columbus, Ohio, and arrived in Jorsey City at noon. Mrs. Ford, with her lady friend and Chief Murphy and Detective Clos, were in the depot at the time. Poindexter was put in a room with half a dozen other colored men. Mrs. Ford, who was called in, without the slightest hesitation pointed out Poindexter as the man who brought her to the restrurant, and to whom she intrusted the care of her children while she came to this city to look for her relatives.

Poindexter denied ever having seen the woman before, and said he knew nothing about the children. He was locked up in Police Headquarters. Thomas Traphagan, a peddler of jewelry, who was in the Pennsylvania depot on Wednesday when the Pacific express arrived, says he saw Porter Poindexter going out of the depot with Mrs. Ford and the three children. Detective Clos of Jersey City is looking for a woman who was a passenger on the train with Mrs. Ford and who, it is said, was often in conversation with her and the children. Chief Murphy thinks that there is no doubt now that Mrs. Ford had the three children with her, and that they may yet be found, probably in some institution.

At the identification of Poindexter Mrs. Ford became greatly excited.

"That's him," she cried; "that's the man who took us to the eating house. I left my children with her, and that they have yet content with her, and that they have yet content when the content with the content atration by appearing before the curtain. The kindly enthusiasm of the handsome assem-promoter of the play, divorted the demonstration by appearing before the curtain. The kindly enthusiasm of the handsome assemblage toward the army and navy celebrities was measurably extended to Admiral Porter's work, and, although parts of it were openly derided, some of the strong passages were received with serious interest.

The dramatization was by Mr. George B. Densmore of San Francisco, and it was chiefly a job with serissors and paste, although good stagecraft was seen in the arrangement of the climaxes. That common expedient of the adapter, a prologue, here served to introduce the abduction of the twins by a wandering showman. This was uninteresting, and the play would have been better without it. The first act was dated twenty years later, or 1820, and there the action began drowsly in the office of the New York Chief of Police. A band of bold robbers, led by Robert ie Diable, had frightened the citizens and demoralized the constabulary, Allan Dare, a famous detective from London and Paris, undertook to catch the outlaws. Thus the twins were plitted against each other. The presentation of this much was hindered and all but prevented by an actor who had not learned the part of Chief of Police. There were thirty-two characters, and a dozen or so of them were quite as inexplicable as the incoherent Chief, save to those who had read the book. Far too much of the story had been crowded into the drama. Queer persons introduced themselves abruptly, and were reminiscent to a degree that bewildered the unprepared listener. Identifies were not clearly established, and purposes were often hazy. A romantic feminine interest was lacking, although women were plenty. Their love doings were so mawkish and absurd that the audience laughed merrity at them, although in one instance the acting was well done by Miss Louise Pomeroy.

The passages which made a deep impression, and which may render "Allan Dare" pleasurable to uncritical audiences, were those in which the brothers, thief and thief taker, were impersonated by

AWOMAN BOUND AND ROBBED SEIZED BY THIEVES IN HER OWN HOUSE AND BRUTALLY BEATEN

Then the Burglars Ransacked the Apartments and Left the Unconscious Woman Biecding on the Floor-No Arrests,

Inspector Byrnes is looking diligently for two thieves who on Thursday last bound and gagged Mrs. Augusta Pulvermacher, in her own rooms at 167 Avenue B, and then ransacked the apartments, taking away what they could carry and leaving Mrs. Pulvermecher insensible on the floor News of the assault and robbery was suppressed until last night by the police, in the hope that they might find the

Mrs. Pulvermacher's husband is a cigar manufacturer, and he and his wife occupy the second flat in the apartment house at 167 venue B. Mrs. Pulvermacher, who is about 40 years of age, was alone in her room on last Thursday afternoon when some one knocked at the kitchen door. A tall man with a black Thursday afternoon when some one knocked at the kitchen door. A tall man with a black moustache confronted fier in the private hall-way as she opened the door. He asked if her husband was at home, and she told him that he would not be in for an hour. The strainer said he wanted to leave an order for some cigars, and asked for a sheet of note paper.

Mrs. Pulvermacher went into the dining room for the paper. Suddenly she was relized by the throat and a gag was forced between hor teeth. At the same inoment some one, Mrs. Pulvermacher thinks another man. struck her a stunning blow over the head. Then she was bound with cord, the line being wound several times about her throat. They struck her head against the wall, cutting ler fame, and threw her roughly upon the floor.

The thieves then went through the bureau in the front room, where they found $25, but left behind a box containing finger rings and other articles of jeweiry. They took $200 worth of silk dresses from a closet and thed them up in a bed quilt, but about this time the sound of footsteps on the stairs frightened the thieves away without the silks, and Mr. Pulvermacher entered to find his wife bound, gagged, and bleeding and insensible upon the floor.

Dr. Mehrfieldt of Tenth street was called to attend the injured woman, and found that she was suffering severely from the shock of the brital and outrageous treatment at the hands of the burglars. She is confined to her bed still.

The police, who were called in at once, think that the thieves escaped by the roof. A young woman living in the house described two men of suspicious appearance whom she saw watching the house from the opposite eide of the street on the afternoon of the robbery. One of them was tall, with a black moustache, and the other was short and stout.

Other attempts at burglary have been made in the same house recently, but the thieves have been frightened away.
